✦ CHT & SBIRT ✦

With funding support from BHDDH, EOHHS, and SIM, we recognize the following organizations for their contributions to the Screening, Brief Intervention and Referral to Treatment (SBIRT) grant that spread the use of this best practice to identify and prevent substance use disorders in RI. Over the course of this 5-year grant, 27,000+ people were screened for unhealthy substance use behaviors and provided with education and referrals, if needed.

Additionally, many of these partners also supported Community Health Teams (CHTs) to serve as an extension of primary care to support individuals with complex medical, social and/or behavioral health needs. Community Health Workers and Behavioral Health Clinicians provided important connections to improve patient outcomes and quality of life.

LEARNING COLLABORATIVES

Learning collaboratives leverage practice facilitation support, peer learning opportunities, technical assistance and training to promote integrated, patient- and family-centered care, data-driven quality improvement, and prepare practices to perform successfully under alternative payment models. Our learning collaboratives facilitate the sharing of best practices in primary care, integration with specialists/ health systems and provide a platform for testing and evaluating new models that improve population health within the patient-centered medical home model.
