Integrating HIV and STI Prevention for Primary Care – Best Practices and Beyond

Tuesday, August 20, 2024 8:00-9:00am ET / 11:00-12:00pm PT

Join our experts as they provide a comprehensive overview of best practices for STI screenings. This session will cover essential updates on STI screenings in the primary care setting, highlight the importance of team-based care where each clinical team member plays a crucial role in the screening process, and discuss effective strategies for taking sexual risk assessments. Designed for a wide range of healthcare professionals, from primary care providers to public health officials, the presentation will offer valuable insights for both beginners and those with established screening programs. Participants will also gain access to tools and models related to pre/post assessments.
